

Major (MAJ) ReAnne R. Wentz
Associate Professor, Criminal Law Department
The Judge Advocate General's Legal Center and School.

Major ReAnne Wentz graduated summa cum laude in 2009 from Washburn University with a Bachelor of Arts in History. She received her Juris Doctorate with Dean's Honors from Washburn University School of Law in 2012. In 2022, she received her LL.M. in Military Law with a concentration in Criminal Law from The Judge Advocate General's Legal Center and School. She is currently an LL.M. candidate at the University of Virginia School of Law where she is focusing on Criminal Law and Trial Advocacy.

MAJ Wentz entered the Army Judge Advocate General's Corps (JAG Corps) in 2013. Her first assignment was as a legal assistance attorney at Fort Hood, Texas. At Fort Hood, she also served as one of the first special victim counsel (SVC) in the Army and a trial counsel. Her next assignment was at Fort Stewart, Georgia where she served as a defense counsel. After her time as a defense counsel, she was selected to be a training officer and complex litigator at the U.S. Army's Defense Counsel Assistance Program (DCAP). During this assignment, she trained and assisted Army defense counsel around the world. She also developed the first iteration of the Joint Capital / Complex Defenders Course which helped prepare defense counsel from throughout the Department of Defense to litigate complex cases. After her defense time, MAJ Wentz spent time as an appellate attorney where she filed briefs to the Army Court of Criminal Appeals and the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces on behalf of the government. Major Wentz has been published in the Military Law Review.

Major Wentz is married and has one child.
